CALL NDSP IF YOU NEED HELP
Welcome to the University of Notre Dame!

As president of the Graduate Student Union (GSU), I am delighted you are here and want to encourage you to take advantage of the many opportunities the GSU offers. The GSU represents all of Notre Dame’s graduate students and works to improve the quality of life for students in the classroom, laboratory, or in the library, either through offering conference travel grants, opportunities to present their research at our annual Research Symposium, or hosting social events that foster relationships among fellow graduate students. We advocate for your needs and interests directly to the University Administration, and welcome any suggestions or topics for discussion as we strive to meet the needs of students in all disciplines.

The GSU executive team is comprised of the president and co-vice presidents, committees (including academic affairs, external affairs and electronic resources, health care, orientation, publicity and procedures, quality of life, and social events), and department representatives. As with any association, the GSU’s quality and effectiveness is only as good as the participation of its members, so I strongly encourage you to be actively involved in the GSU during the upcoming year and throughout your career at Notre Dame. Our meetings are open to all grad students and are usually held the third Thursday of every month during the academic year at 6:30pm in the Notre Dame Room, LaFortune Student Center.

We have spent a lot of time crafting this handbook with the intention of introducing you to the campus and surrounding community. More detailed information about each specific department can be found on the web. As a graduate student at one of the finest research institutions in the country you will contribute immensely to the educational advancement of the community. And while this will be one of the most challenging times in your life, it will also be one of the most rewarding times. Be sure to take advantage of the abundant resources offered!

Be on the lookout for our weekly newsletter email for news, events, and additional support! I welcome all forms of communication, so if you are in need of assistance please contact me.

Thanks,
Kate Boehlefeld, GSU President

M—F 8AM–2PM

Founded in 1969, the Graduate Student Union (GSU) is a student organization which represents all graduate students of the four divisions of the Graduate School (Engineering, Humanities, Science and Social Sciences) and the School of Architecture. The GSU promotes excellence in graduate education, and strives to meet the needs of graduate students in all aspects of student life.

Student Life
Provides access for graduate students in the Student Union Board
DVD rental program

Successfully pushed for additional campus graduate student housing

We were instrumental in the creation of the family center in the housing facility for married students

Worked toward obtaining affordable on-campus childcare

Academic Support
Organized the first Graduate Student Research Symposium.
The annual event served to showcase graduate research to members of the Notre Dame Graduate Advisory Council as well as the general public

Created a “graduate students only” computer cluster and study spaces (with financial support from the Graduate School) located in Hesburgh Library

Continue to obtain increases in stipends for teaching assistants

Health Services
Successfully lobbied for subsidized health insurance effective 2004. As of 2013, the subsidy is at 80% of the total premium.

In conjunction with the University Committee for Women Faculty and Students (UCWFS) and General Counsel’s office, the GSU helped:

• put in place a medical separation policy for graduate students effective AY 05-06
• provide graduate students with access to lactation spaces on campus
Welcome to graduate school at the University of Notre Dame. We are proud to have you join our ranks, have high expectations for you, and are committed to your success here and beyond. In coming to Notre Dame for your graduate training, you have selected an institution with a superb faculty, top graduate programs, and a commitment to research, teaching and service, all of which combine to offer you an integrated and ever-widening set of resources that will contribute to your formation as a researcher.

At the center is you. The transition to graduate school is marked by a number of personal transformations: from being a consumer of information to becoming the creator of new knowledge; from being responsive to assignments and deadlines set by instructors to being proactive about setting up your own goals and timeline for progressing in your research; from learning from others to becoming the expert in your field and fostering the learning in others.

Surrounding you are people and resources, positioned to help you along your journey to becoming a scholar. Your faculty mentor serves as your guide into your chosen field, leading you through the critical readings and procedures for conducting research in your field, mentoring your professional development, and helping you to create a professional network. You will work closely with your mentor throughout your training, and the strongest mentoring relationships include open communication and clear expectations.

Your peers, both within and outside your programs, offer you a scholarly and social network that will be vital to your holistic development as a scholar. Take the time to reach out and meet new people, talk about your research, learn about what others are doing. Collectively, you constitute the next generation of scholars.

Your program, department and college offer you another set of resources that support your mastering of key milestones in your training, and your development towards independent thinking. Get to know your director of graduate studies and your department chair and dean who are all wonderful role models and are committed to your success.

Finally, the Graduate School offers a strong set of programs in professional development to assist you in mastering transferrable skills which augment your training and will contribute to your success launching your career, and in student life assuring your scholarly development is balanced with your social, physical and spiritual needs.

We are excited to have you on campus, and I hope to meet you and learn about your research. Please don’t hesitate to drop by and say hello.

It is with great pleasure and enthusiasm that I welcome you to the University of Notre Dame. I am thrilled that you have chosen this place to continue your studies and advance understanding of your chosen specialty through your research and inquiry.

Notre Dame is a place where matters of faith are addressed with respect and where the wisdom of religious tradition sheds new light upon the most pressing concerns of our time. It is a university that strives to cultivate in its students both technical proficiency and an ethical, moral and spiritual integrity that lasts a lifetime.

As a graduate student, I hope you will find your days here a time of personal growth, intellectual challenge, and professional exploration. I encourage you to be an active member of our community and seek the academic, social, recreational and spiritual opportunities which abound.

The resources offered by the University in support of your work are plentiful. In particular, several programs offered by the Graduate School and the Graduate Student Union are offered to assist you in making a smooth and rapid transition to the University, and I urge you to take full advantage of these offerings.

Again, I am glad to welcome you to Notre Dame. I wish you great success in your intellectual pursuits, and I look forward to seeing you sometime in the near future.

NOTRE DAME HAS A WEALTH OF RESOURCES TO ENSURE YOU HAVE THE BEST GRADUATE EDUCATION IN THE COUNTRY. THE FOLLOWING PAGES DETAIL SOME OF THE MANY SERVICES PROVIDED BY OUR UNIVERSITY.

“PREPARE YOUR WORK OUTSIDE; GET EVERYTHING READY FOR YOURSELF IN THE FIELD, AND AFTER THAT BUILD YOUR HOUSE.”

ENJOY NOTRE DAME
University Health Services (UHS) provides treatment of illness and injury to all currently enrolled students. UHS is staffed by physicians and registered nurses 24/7 during the academic year. Services include a walk-in clinic, pharmacy, allergy injections, travel consultations, vaccinations, laboratory tests, x-rays and physical therapy. If you are seriously ill, you may be admitted to our inpatient observation unit upon orders from a University physician.

Health Insurance

Health insurance is required for all graduate students attending Notre Dame. As an enrolled graduate student, you are automatically enrolled in the University’s student health insurance plan. If you decide not to obtain coverage through this plan, you must provide proof of enrollment in a comparable insurance plan by September 15, 2014. Waiver applications are done electronically through aetna.studenthealth.com. You will receive multiple emails from UHS regarding the insurance plan prior to the waiver deadline. UHS will provide you a link in the email to apply for the waiver.

The Notre Dame student health insurance plan is underwritten by Aetna Life Insurance Company. The coverage year runs from August 15, 2014, to August 14, 2015. Early in the fall semester, each student will receive a booklet detailing the insurance plan along with their health insurance ID card. You can also find a copy of the brochure and pamphlet at uhs.nd.edu under the insurance tab.

For information, please refer to the UHS website: uhs.nd.edu. Additional questions can be sent to the Assistant Director of Office Operations at the Insurance and Billing office at UHS at 574.631.1882.

There is only one plan available. The cost to each student is $2,313. The cost for dependents is: Spouse—$5,785; One Child—$3,471; All Children—$4,512.

Premium & Subsidy:

The premium for the 2013-2014 school year will be $2,313; the full-time student subsidy is $1,925. Please see the Student Life pages of the Graduate School website for information on the subsidy (meaning the student is responsible for the difference) for fully funded graduate students. graduateschool.nd.edu/graduate-student-life/health

Deductible:

This is the amount that insured students are responsible for at hospitals and other facilities other than health services. The deductible is a flat $500 per person, not per injury/illness. Services rendered at University Health Services are 100% reimbursed, no cost to the student except prescription co-pays and over the counter items. Only students can access the health center but all others can access the pharmacy.

Hospital & ER Services

Both Memorial Hospital and Saint Joseph hospital are in the Aetna network and you can go to either facility.

Health Education

Programs are coordinated by UHS Medical Outreach Services. Contact Ruthann Heberle at 574.631.8662.

Dental Savings Card

You may purchase an annual dental savings card for $25 which will pay for itself over two or more cleanings and check-ups per year.

Eye Care

There is no cost for the Vision discount plan. It is already included in the premium package. It is a discount plan so charges to preferred providers are reduced.

Prescriptions

For the best coverage, prescriptions must be filled at the University Health Center on campus. There are co-pays when you get your prescriptions filled at the UHS Pharmacy on campus. The co-pays are $5 (copay for generic), $25 (copay for brand-name) and $35 (copay for brand-name if generic available). Off campus, there is a yearly $100 prescription deductible. After the deductible has been satisfied, the coverage for prescriptions is as follows: $5 (generic prescription drug), $25 (preferred brand name prescription drug), no coverage for Non-Preferred brand name prescription drugs. Benefits for contraceptives are covered only when medically necessary. Allergy injections, serums and oral allergy medications for students are covered at University Health Services only. Immunizations for students at the Health Center are covered at 100%.

Counseling & Mental Health

Treatment of mental health is covered the same as any other sickness. Students seeking mental health care are encouraged to visit the University Counseling Center (UCC) located in Saint Liam Hall. A referral from the UCC is needed for outside care.

Preventative Care

Each student is authorized one wellness physical or gynecological visit per coverage year. No referral is needed to visit an off-campus doctor for this purpose.

Referrals

A University Health Services referral is needed for most care done outside of the University Health Center (UHC). The exceptions are medical emergencies, maternity, routine exams, mammograms, chiropractic care, dental care and when the UHC is closed or the student is more than 25 miles from campus. Referrals are needed for students only, and not for dependents.

Non-University Providers

To see an off-campus doctor (within a 25 mile radius of campus), students must first receive a referral from the University Health Center (except for Obstetrics and Gynecology care, Mammograms, Wellness physicals, Chiropractors, and dentists).

“Out of Network” Providers

Lower benefits and higher out-of-pocket expenses are incurred when a student seeks medical care outside of the network. The maximum out-of-pocket expense for out of network care is $2500 for the coverage year.
The UCC is staffed with licensed psychologists and social workers who provide confidential individual and group counseling. The center offers individual, group, couples, and crisis counseling services. For students in counseling at the UCC, a psychiatrist is available two days a week for medication consults; a nutritionist also may be accessed through the UCC for students engaged in UCC counseling services. Referrals are provided for students who plan to work with mental health professionals in the community and want to use their University sponsored health insurance. There are no fees for UCC services. Urgent Care, Referral Services, Warm Line and the Inner Resources services can be accessed through contact with the UCC.

GRADUATE THERAPY SUPPORT GROUP
This group is designed for grad students who want more self-understanding and greater confidence. It is also for those who have experienced relationship difficulties or loss and are looking for support and strategies for coping and personal growth, and for students seeking time/stress management. Consider joining a confidential counseling group with other graduate students. Contact the UCC at: 574.631.7336

WARM LINE CONSULTATION
Warm Line is a non-emergency help line for faculty and teaching assistants who have concerns about their students’ mental health. Call the University Counseling Center at 574.631.7336 and ask for the Warm Line. This will put you in contact with the next available Warm Line therapist.

EMERGENCY SERVICES
Visit: ucc.nd.edu/emergency-services for a list of crisis services available.

LET’S TALK
Let’s Talk is brief consultation (15-20 minutes) and an opportunity for students who do not desire formal therapy but would like a chance to talk face to face with an experienced counselor. Let’s Talk is confidential, completely free and it is not in the Counseling Center. Just walk-in because no appointments are necessary!

Find a Let’s Talk time and location on the UCC website.

INNER RESOURCES ROOM
This room has resources for calming and focusing yourself. Students can also use a massage chair for relaxation and light box for treatment of Seasonal Affective Disorder.

DID YOU KNOW?
Graduate Student Life has many helpful tips online which you might find helpful in adjusting to life at Notre Dame. Gradlife.nd.edu is dedicated to showing students the resources Notre Dame provides.

ASK THE SALMON WEBLOG
Have a question about Notre Dame that’s been eating away at you? Something you always wanted to know but never knew who to ask? Ask the Salmon! Submit your questions for the Salmon of Knowledge by emailing them to gradlife@nd.edu or by going to the Ask a Question tab at: blogs.nd.edu/ask-the-salmon.
WRITING CONSULTATIONS
The University Writing Center offers free, one-on-one consultations with writers from all disciplines, at any level of study, at any stage in the composing process. Graduate students can choose to work with an undergraduate or graduate consultant. Our consultants are prepared to work with graduate student writers on course papers, dissertation chapters, conference proposals and presentations, and publication drafts. Graduate students and faculty are welcome to make use of our “Read-Ahead Service” to get the most out of their consultations, sending in a draft of a larger piece of writing (like a dissertation chapter or book section) in advance of the consultation so that the consultant will have time to review the piece before the meeting.

DISSERTATION REVIEW
We also offer standing weekly appointments for students writing dissertations to get consistent feedback from an attentive reader throughout the dissertation process.

Of course, students are also welcome to make appointments to discuss ideas before beginning a draft or to bring in draft material at any stage of revision.

GRADUATE WORKSHOPS
Workshops are offered especially for graduate students on various writing topics during the academic year.
The Hesburgh Libraries is a diverse system featuring a main library which houses specialty libraries and eight branch libraries located throughout the Notre Dame campus.

To further its core mission of “connecting people to knowledge,” the Libraries offer a vast array of expertise, services, resources and spaces to ensure the academic success of the graduate student community. Whether through the expertise of subject librarians and specialty services or the access to various sources of knowledge, we continuously evolve to meet the ever-changing needs of Notre Dame students in the 21st century.

Most of the books, journals, manuscripts, and other library materials available on campus are housed in Hesburgh Library and its branches. The collection contains over 3.5 million print volumes. In addition, the libraries have access to 3.5 million electronic titles including over 75,000 electronic journal titles, and more than 21,000 audio-visual items in support of Notre Dame’s teaching and research programs.

One-on-one and small group orientations are available upon request at any time throughout the year. Please see: library.nd.edu/instruction/workshops.shtml for details and registration for general orientations.

KEY LIBRARY SERVICES AND SPACES
TAILORED TO GRADUATE STUDENTS

RESEARCH CONSULTATIONS
Libraries at universities exist to support teaching, learning and research needs at all levels. Whether you are new to the University or returning after undergraduate work under the Dome, be sure to schedule a research consultation as soon as you can. Begin your graduate career at Notre Dame by initiating and building a relationship with your subject librarian and becoming familiar with standard collections and materials unique to the Hesburgh Libraries. Contact: asklib.nd.edu to schedule your consultation.

SUBJECT LIBRARIANS
More than 25 subject librarians provide invaluable expertise and support services for the teaching, research and scholarship initiatives of the University community. Services offered include research consultations, materials purchase requests, and library instruction. Your subject librarian may help you identify the print, electronic or data resources you need to extend or complete your research. You can connect face-to-face, by email, phone or chat, and through: library.nd.edu/subjects.

DOCUMENT DELIVERY
You can request books and articles from the Hesburgh Libraries’ collection. Books will be held for you at the library of your choice. Scanned articles from journals owned by the libraries are usually delivered to your desktop within 24-48 hours, Monday–Friday. When materials are not on the shelf, your request is automatically routed to interlibrary loan.

INTERLIBRARY LOAN
You may request material from other area libraries. Turnaround time is usually less than one week for physical items, and within two business days for digital or scanned material. Please note that renewals and due dates vary depending on the lending library.

LIBRARY WORKSHOPS
The Libraries’ workshops further professional development and research activity in your academic career. Workshop topics include orientation to the Libraries, search overview for our catalog and databases, how to choose and use research management software, and scholarly impact measurement. Workshop content continues to evolve as research needs change. Consult with our online schedule: library.nd.edu/instruction/workshops. Feel free to request new workshops to meet your needs. Contact Mandy Havert: mhavert@nd.edu.

DISSERTATION AND THESIS CAMPS
Dissertation Research and Writing Camps provide five days of structured and supported time for you to focus on your research output. Camps are held for master and doctoral level graduate students during fall and spring midterm breaks. You will learn new research and writing techniques, apply time management tips, meet fellow graduate students, exchange ideas and build your scholarly community. Dissertation Day Camps are new this academic year and provide four all-day Saturday opportunities to work on research and writing in a designated space in the Hesburgh Library. Register at: library.nd.edu/instruction/workshops.

GRADUATE STUDENT STUDY LOUNGE
The graduate student study room is on the 10th floor of Hesburgh Library in the west/northwest corner and has open carrels, computers and printers, and a flat screen monitor to practice presentations. A collection of curated professional development books is located in this space. Access to the study lounge is controlled by a keypad, and the access code is available in the Graduate Student Union office in 217 LaFortune Student Center.

CENTER FOR DIGITAL SCHOLARSHIP
New in the fall of 2013, the Center for Digital Scholarship (CDS) is located in Hesburgh Library’s northeast corner on the 1st floor. The CDS leverages state-of-the-art technologies, enabling students and faculty to explore new methodologies, analyze complex data and share research results in ways never before possible. The Center is nimble, capable of rapidly adopting new technologies as they emerge—transforming how teaching, research and scholarship are conducted at Notre Dame.

CENTER EXPERTISE
The Center offers cross-disciplinary library expertise, including a Metadata Librarian, Geographic Information System (GIS) Librarian and a Digital Initiatives Librarian. Subject Librarians are also important contributors to and conduits for the Center’s impact. To meet specialty needs, the Center has developed partnerships with various campus research providers, such as the Center for Research Computing, the Office of Research, and the Center for Creative Computing. Our structure ensures that areas of expertise will evolve to meet the changing demands of our University community for research and scholarship in the 21st century.

CENTER SERVICES
These services include:
• GIS Consultation

In collaboration with campus partners, we prepare students to obtain strong professional outcomes during their time at Notre Dame and beyond.

How can you present yourself and your research properly and effectively? Positive self-description—both in print and face-to-face—is a set of professional skills not normally taught in the lab or classroom. Helping you learn and perfect these skills is the primary goal of the Office of Grants and Fellowships. Whether in a fellowship application or in an elevator at a conference, we want to help you stand out!

Our team offers year-round workshops and other programming; we also provide individual consultations to assist students in goal setting as well as finding, strategizing for, and applying for grants and fellowships.

Students also have the opportunity to utilize specialized online databases, including PIVOT and Academic iNDex, to locate opportunities, strategize applications, and conduct funding-related research. We also offer access to our large database of successful application essays for all of the major grant and fellowship opportunities, both internal and beyond Notre Dame.

Overall, we help students better understand how to present themselves and their research to various audiences. In the process, we empower students to take ownership of their research development and to devote the time and energy necessary to apply for—and win—prestigious grants and fellowships. The Office of Grants & Fellowships is here to support you; to help you set, strategize for, and achieve your goals during your time at Notre Dame—and beyond.
