Document Delivery (Campus Delivery) for Graduate Students

The Hesburgh Libraries are extending our document delivery service to graduate students. This will allow you to have books retrieved and held for pickup at the library of your choice (Architecture, BIC, Chem/Physics, Engineering, Hesburgh, KKIC, Math).

You’ll search for books in the catalog and in our databases just as you do now. When you click on the “Deliver” link you’ll be taken to the ILLiad login page. Login and submit your request. We’ll deliver the book to the library of your choice; you’ll receive an email when your material is available for pickup.

When will the books be ready for me to pick them up?
If the book is housed at the pickup library, such as a Hesburgh book to be picked up in Hesburgh, the book should be available within 24 hours or less—excluding weekends. For example, if you request a book at 7 in the evening it should be available before 7 the next evening. Books that are delivered to another pickup location, e.g. Hesburgh to Chem/Physics, will take longer.

What happens if the book isn’t on the shelf?
If the book isn’t on the shelf we’ll automatically borrow it for you through interlibrary loan—you don’t have to submit a new request.

Isn’t it faster to pick up the books myself?
That depends— if you’re in the library, then going to the shelf will certainly be faster. If you’re in your office or dorm and plan to visit the library later, this could be faster. We’re offering this service as a convenience; it is not intended to be a substitute for the immediacy and serendipity of browsing the shelves.
